The diagram shows a series of four parallel, curved lines that form a profile tapering from top to bottom. The lines are concave towards the right. A dashed horizontal line is drawn at the bottom of the profile, extending from the right side towards the center. Three labels with arrows point to specific features: '10a' points to the top edge of the innermost curve, '11a' points to the right edge of the profile, and '12a' points to the bottom edge of the profile.
